Bullying of any kind is unacceptable. If bullying does occur, all pupils should be able to tell and know that incidents will be dealt with promptly and effectively. We are a TELLING company. This means that anyone who knows that bullying is happening is expected to tell the staff.
- 1.1.2 This policy has been written with reference to the DfE guidance on Preventing and tackling bullying and should be read in conjunction with the behaviour policy.

Anti-Bullying Procedure Clannad

2.1 Responding to Bullying

- 2.1.1 Bullying hurts. No one deserves to be a victim of bullying. Everybody has the right to be treated with respect. Young people who are bullying need to learn different ways of behaving. We all have a responsibility to respond promptly and effectively to issues of bullying.

2.2 Reporting Bullying

- 2.2.1 All staff will receive training on Preventing Bullying and will sign to say that they have read the schools anti-bullying policy.

Report bullying incidents to the Head teacher. The Head teacher will investigate the incident and decide on the next best course of action.

- 2.2.2 In cases of serious bullying, the incidents will be recorded by staff and social workers will be informed and a meeting will be held. If necessary and appropriate, other authorities will be consulted.

- 2.2.3 The bullying behaviour or threats of bullying must be investigated, and the bullying stopped quickly. An attempt will be made to help the bully (bullies) change their behaviour.

Investigating Incidents

Staff will take time to listen to all children involved, including the victim, the bully and any witnesses.

Our school adopts a culture to ensure all school members feel confident to report bullying and it is not thought to be snitching when ensuring all pupils safety. Pupils will know who they can speak to.

Working with victims

- Listen carefully to the child and look out for the signs.
- Never label the bullied child as a problem.
- Reassure the child that you will help it to stop.
- Ask them what they need you to do in the short and long term.
- Agree an action plan together and regularly check in with them.

Working with bullies

- Listen to their side of the story.
- Consider whether there is a history of bullying and aggressive behaviour.
- Who else was involved, was it retaliation?
- What is their intention with bullying?
- Educate them to understand the impact bullying has.
- Refer to policy with regards to sanctions imposed.

Working with reinforcers

- Listen to their side of the story.
- Explore the ways in which they were involved.
- Explore what they could have done differently.
- Educate them to understand the impact bullying has.
- Refer to policy with regards to sanctions imposed.

Defenders

- Listen to their side of the story.
- Explore the ways in which they supported the victim of bullying and how it has made a difference.
- Praise them for their behaviour and discuss ways forward in defending victims of bullying and influencing change in the bullies.

2.3 Sanctions

2.3.1 Sanctions available should depend on the severity of the situation and be hierarchal. All cases should be treated individually depending on the effect and circumstances. Actions can be changed but feelings are a personal issue. Those investigating should judge the situation using their own professional feelings as well as those of the victim. They may not always be punitive. Sanctions could include:

- Mediation with victim
- Restorative Justice Programs: Restorative practice plays a large part in preventing and helping to resolve the conflict.
- Loss of points, rewards and/or reward time.
- Detention

2.3.2 In serious cases, a sanction will be considered and agreed with the registered manager. If possible, the young people will be reconciled. After the incident / incidents have been investigated and dealt with, each case will be continuously monitored to ensure repeated bullying does not take place.

2.4 Whole school

All students will be taught the importance of reporting bullying and the impact that bullying has on people. Events, such as anti-bullying week, online safety will also be incorporated into the curriculum.

2.5 On and offsite premises

Pupils will be educated about the impact of bullying and the importance of reporting it, whether it happens on site, off the school premises or online.

School staff will keep an open ear at all times and close eye on any known hot spots on the school premises where bullying may take place.

All pupils are supervised at all times throughout the day.

Cyber Bullying

2.5.1 At Five Rivers we believe that using ICT as a means of bullying is relatively new but incredibly worrying as it increases the anonymity of the bully, is increasingly difficult to stop, but has the capacity to reach a massive audience. When cyberbullying is reported to staff they should try to obtain physical evidence from texts or emails in order to have substantiated evidence. It is vital that staff follow the same reactive strategies and procedures as outlined further in this document. Sanctions should be the same as for other types of bullying. As the clarity of cyberbullying may be distorted; there may be many bystanders who become participants and they may not see themselves as being part of the bullying, however, they are still involved and must be instructed that their involvement may accentuate the level of torment for the victim.

2.5.2 There are many types of cyber-bullying. Although there may be some of which we are unaware of. Here are the more common forms of cyber-bullying:

- Text messages —that are threatening or cause discomfort - also included here is "bluejacking" (the sending of anonymous text messages over short distances using "Bluetooth" wireless technology)
- Picture/video-clips via mobile phone cameras - images sent to others to make the victim feel threatened or embarrassed.
- Mobile phone calls — silent calls or abusive messages; or stealing the victim's phone and using it to harass others, to make them believe the victim is responsible.
- Emails — threatening or bullying emails, often sent using a pseudonym or somebody else's name.
- Chatroom bullying — menacing or upsetting responses to children or young people when they are in web-based chatroom.
- Instant messaging (IM) — unpleasant messages sent while children conduct real-time conversations online using MSM (Microsoft Messenger) or Yahoo Chat – although there are others.
- Bullying via websites/social media — use of blogs and personal websites.

2.6 Sexting

2.6.1 Whilst professionals refer to the issue as 'sexting' there is no clear definition of 'sexting'. Many professionals consider sexting to be 'sending or posting sexually suggestive images, including nude or semi-nude photographs, via mobiles or over the Internet.' Yet when young people are asked 'What does sexting mean to you?' they are more likely to interpret sexting as 'writing and sharing explicit messages with people they know'. Similarly, many parents think of sexting as flirty or sexual text messages rather than images.

NB. Further guidance: Sexting in schools: Responding to incidents and safeguarding young people.

2.5.2 This advice only covers the sharing of sexual imagery by young people. Creating and sharing sexual photos and videos of under-18s is illegal and therefore causes the greatest complexity for schools and other agencies when responding. It also presents a range of risks, which need careful management.

2.5.3 On this basis this advice introduces the phrase 'youth produced sexual imagery' and uses this instead of 'sexting.' This is to ensure clarity about the issues this advice addresses. 'Youth produced sexual imagery' best describes the practice because:

- 'Youth produced' includes young people sharing images that they, or another young person have created of themselves.
- 'Sexual' is clearer than 'indecent.' A judgement of whether something is 'decent' is both a value judgement and dependent on context.
- 'Imagery' covers both still photos and moving videos

2.5.4 Technology allows the user to bully anonymously or from an unknown location, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Cyber-bullying leaves no physical scars so it is, perhaps, less evident to a parent or teacher, but it is highly intrusive and the hurt it causes can be very severe.

2.5.5 Young people are particularly adept at adapting to new technology, an area that can seem a closed world to adults.

2.5.6 Our pupils are taught how to:

- Understand how to use these technologies safely and know about the risks and consequences of misusing them.
- Know what to do if they or someone they know are being cyberbullied.
- Report any problems with cyberbullying.
- If they do have a problem, they can talk to the school, parents, the police, the mobile network (for phone) or the Internet Service Provider (ISP) to do something about it.

2.5.7 At our school, we take this bullying as seriously as other types of bullying and, therefore, will deal with each situation individually. The sanctions agreed throughout the home/school/company are to be used as sanctions for cyberbullies in the same way as any other act of bullying. An episode may result in a simple verbal warning. It might result in further agreed sanctions. Clearly, more serious cases will result in further sanctions.

2.6 Advice for Students

- 2.6.1 The internet can be a fantastic resource, but it can also be a dangerous place if you don't keep yourself safe and secure online. It is important to remember that not everyone you may meet on the internet will be who they say they are. So, think very carefully about how you use the internet. Never give out your passwords or any private information for example. You must certainly never agree to meet anyone you've met online – always speak to your parents if you are asked to do so.
- 2.6.2 The internet is also a place where bullying can easily occur. You need to think very carefully about any of the pictures or videos that you post of yourself. This includes items that you may send via text message. If you ever receive any kind of abuse online you must tell someone about it, your parents, a family member, a teacher or a friend for example.
- 2.6.3 If you're being bullied by phone or the Internet:
- Remember, bullying is never your fault. It can be stopped, and it can usually be traced.
 - Don't ignore the bullying. Tell someone you trust, such as a teacher or parent, or call an advice line.
 - Try to keep calm. If you are frightened, try to show it as little as possible.
 - Don't get angry, it will only make the person bullying you more likely to continue.
 - Don't give out your personal details online - if you're in a chatroom, watch what you say about where you live, your email address etc. All these things can help someone who wants to harm you build up a picture about you.
 - Keep and save any bullying emails, text messages or images. Then you can show them to your carer or teacher as evidence.
 - If you can, make a note of the time and date bullying messages or images were sent, and note any details about the sender.
 - There's plenty of online advice on how to react to cyberbullying.

2.7 Text/video Messaging

- 2.7.1 You can easily stop receiving text messages for a while by turning off incoming messages for a couple of days. This might stop the person texting you by making them believe you've changed your phone number. To find out how to do this, visit www.wiredsafety.org.
- 2.7.2 If the bullying persists, you can change your phone number. Ask your mobile service provider.
- 2.7.3 Don't reply to abusive or worrying text or video messages. Your mobile service provider will have a number for you to ring or text to report phone bullying. Visit their website for details.
- 2.7.4 Don't delete messages from cyberbullies. You don't have to read them, but you should keep them as evidence.

- 2.7.5 Text harassment is a crime. If the calls are simply annoying, tell a teacher, or carer. If they are threatening or malicious and they persist, report them to the police, taking with you all the messages you've received.

2.8 Phone Calls

- 2.8.1 If you get an abusive or silent phone call, don't hang up immediately. Instead, put the phone down and walk away for a few minutes. Then hang up or turn your phone off. Once they realise, they can't get you rattled, callers usually get bored and stop bothering you.
- 2.8.2 Always tell someone else: a teacher, key worker, or carer. Get them to support you and monitor what's going on.
- 2.8.3 Don't give out personal details such as your phone number to just anyone. And never leave your phone lying around. When you answer your phone, just say 'hello', not your name. If they ask you to confirm your phone number, ask what number they want and then tell them if they've got the right number or not.
- 2.8.4 Use your voicemail to vet your calls. A lot of mobiles display the caller's number. See if you recognise it. If you don't, let it divert to voicemail instead of answering it. And don't leave your name on your voicemail greeting. You could get an adult to record your greeting. Their voice might stop the caller ringing again. Almost all calls nowadays can be traced. If the problem continues, think about changing your phone number.
- 2.8.5 If you receive calls that scare or trouble you, make a note of the times and dates and report them to the police. If your mobile can record calls, take the recording too.

2.9 Emails

- 2.9.1 Never reply to unpleasant or unwanted emails ('flames') — the sender wants a response, so don't give them that satisfaction. Keep the emails as evidence. And tell an adult about them.
- 2.9.2 Never reply to someone you don't know, even if there's an option to 'unsubscribe'. Replying simply confirms your email address as a real one.

2.10 Web Bullying

- 2.10.1 If the bullying is on a website, tell a teacher or parent/carer, just as you would if the bullying was face-to-face – even if you don't actually know the bully's identity.
- 2.10.2 Serious bullying should be reported to the police - for example threats of a physical or sexual nature. Your carer or teacher will help you do this.

2.11 Chat Rooms and Instant Messaging

- 2.11.1 Never give out your name, address, phone number, or password online. It's a good idea to use a nickname. And don't give out photos of yourself.

- 2.11.2 Don't accept emails or open files from people you don't know. Remember it might not just be people your own age in a chat room.
- 2.11.3 Stick to public areas in chat rooms and get out if you feel uncomfortable. Tell your carers if you feel uncomfortable or worried about anything that happens in a chat room.
- 2.11.4 Think carefully about what you write; don't leave yourself open to bullying. Don't ever give out passwords to your mobile or email account.
